Eco-Council Clean-up Llanishen

Julie Morgan, MP for Cardiff North, has praised the work of Llanishen High School's Eco-Council in cleaning up streets in Llanishen, especially the stretch between the school and Sainsbury's on Excalibur Drive

Julie said:

“I am very impressed with the outstanding efforts of the Eco-Council. They have taken real pride in improving their local environment as well as campaigning tirelessly to emphasise the importance of global action on climate change.

“I understand the schools recent ‘eco-day’ was a great success. The activities and events really underlined the importance of global citizenship if we are to tackle the challenges of the twenty-first century, including climate change.

“When we met, we discussed the local problem of litter in Heol Hir and Excalibur Drive. I have had many complaints about this from local residents. The Eco-Council have organised frequent litter picks to improve cleanliness in the area and I am happy to reinforce their actions in any way I can. I have written to the Local Authority to see if more bins can be provided in the area as there are no bins between the school and Sainsbury's. I am also grateful for the co-operation of the store management at Sainsbury's who have put into place their own schemes to combat the litter problem and have provided support for the Eco-Council

“I am pleased that we are working in partnership to improve this situation and am glad to be able to report a noticeable reduction in litter in recent weeks. I have every confidence that this will continue to improve. The Eco-Council can be very proud of their efforts!”
