MP Praises Cardiff's Ability to Create a Stir

Julie Morgan, MP for Cardiff North, is so pleased at the way people from her constituency and beyond raised money at the Macmillan Coffee Morning she held at the Village Kitchen on Merthyr Rd in Whitchurch on Friday 25th September.

Julie Morgan MP said:

"I have been holding Macmillan Coffee Mornings since the invitation to do so came from Macmillan some seven or eight years ago. Despite all the hard work, everybody enjoys the morning and it's Whitchurch Village and beyond that raises money for the charity.

"This year we collected £671, our biggest take on the actual morning ever. I want to thank the owners and staff of the Village Kitchen for all their hard work, and all the traders of Whitchurch Village who were so generous with the donation of raffle prizes. And let's not forget all those who turned up to be so willingly separated from their money.

"How much have we raised in total? We have probably raised over £7000 over the years and long may it continue.

"However much we have raised, we have asked for it to be used locally so we know that most of the money has moved just up the road to our friends at Velindre Hospital and they make every penny count.

"I know of other people who held events both close to and far away from ours and they also had a great response on the day.

"So it's roll on next year and thanks to the people of Cardiff for creating a huge stir!"
